Heat Stress Safety Awareness Training

Many people are exposed to heat on some jobs, outdoors or in hot indoor environments. Operations involving high air temperatures, radiant heat sources, high humidity, direct physical contact with hot objects, or strenuous physical activities have a high potential for causing heat-related illness. There are precautions employers should take any time temperatures are high and the job involves physical work. Training your employees to recognize the hazard can help prevent tragedies. In this class students will learn how to recognize predisposing factors, danger signs, and symptoms; First-Aid procedures for, and the potential health effects of, heat stroke and heat related illness. Please contact us by phone at 800.343.1354 or email info@divalsafety.com today to schedule an appointment. We've got you covered!
